

Community Systems Model

Improving the Health of People and Places Across South Carolina

Multi-sector groups can build collective will that leads to change at the policy and practice levels and results in improved health outcomes. South Carolina wants to continue to improve opportunities for all residents to achieve their optimal health and well-being.

